Why Balkan?

An aerial photograph of a coastal town, likely Dubrovnik, Croatia. The image shows a dense cluster of buildings with terracotta-tiled roofs. A prominent feature is a large, dark, ribbed dome with a spire, likely the Cathedral of the Saviour. The town is situated on a cliffside overlooking the blue Adriatic Sea. A small boat is visible in the water in the upper left. The overall scene is bright and sunny, with clear blue skies and water.

This area is one of the most spirited and colorful regions in Europe. Today's international circumstances confirm that Balkan is the perfect and most appealing destination for whatever type of event you are planning.

In spite of its painful history it features an inspiring development. It has managed to maintain the delicate balance between preserving its impressive history and tradition and embracing all the facilities and technologies of the modern world. Where else can you find high standard facilities within historical places, where domestic traditions, gastronomy and culture perfectly fit with the most discerning requirements?

Come and experience Balkan with us!

Balkan Nature

The Balkan Peninsula is home to a variety of different wild, pristine landscapes that creates the idea of all world being in one angle only. From slope Mountains to large immense fields, from bare tops to beautiful shores and amazing coastlines.

All these different landscapes offers the possibility for all kind of tourism: Beach vacations, 'white tourism' for those apassionated with the snow and skiing, hiking, cycling and simple walks among the wonderful nature. Due to Mediterranean climate, all the seasons are clearly separated, presenting to you in all months of the year amazing 'explosions' and vibrating colours.

Balkan is also known for a wide range of national Parks in each country, some of which are part of the UNESCO as Natural preserved sites such as Plitvice Lakes for example. Montenegro's Tara River carves through Europe's longest and deepest canyon, and neighboring forests provide refuge to rare animals such as the Balkan Lynx.

To the east, millions of birds flock to the Danube Delta to feast on swarms of mosquitoes. And at the west of the Balkans is Skadar Lake, a remarkable landscape of peaks and water. In this area, everyone can hear better the sound of nature and donate himself a wonderful place to be !!

Balkan Culture

The place called the land of the Honey and Blood, has a unique mixture of different influences from different periods, which by emerging with the autochthonous has created a beautiful and interesting mosaic for everyone that seeks the special touch of this area.

Historically the area was known as a crossroads of cultures. It has been a juncture between the Latin and Greek bodies of the Roman Empire the destination of a massive influx of pagan Bulgars and Slavs, an area where Orthodox and Catholic Christianity met, as well as the meeting point between Islam and Christianity. Lots of the cities that have been testimony of wars and lots of unstable periods, are now standing as part of the UNESCO patrimony. Dubrovnik, Zadar, Split, Kotor, Budva, Gjirokastra, Berat ,Belgrade, risen 38 times from it's ashes, Prizren, Ohrid, are only some of many sites in the area known for the special architecture, tradition, costumes and Folkloric rhythms.

The historical background where this culture is formed is so similar for all the Balkan states that seems that the essence is the same for all of them, but each and every country, amuses everybody with their uniqueness. All these treasures are preserved with fanaticism by the locals, a very identifying value of whom is hospitality.

No matter which your story is, where you come from, what you like or who you are, you will always find people who will make you feel like home.

In Balkan they say: "Our home is of God's and of Guest's"...

Balkan Taste

One says that “The world seems more beautiful with a pleased stomach”.

If we stick on this and eat in Balkan, for sure the beauty will be toneless. The cuisine is heterogeneous, mostly Mediterranean, influenced by many including Italian, Turkish and Middle Eastern Cuisine cooking. Traditional dishes are based on imaginative variations of several basic ingredients and cooking procedures. They are non-limited in using of all vegetables, Mediterranean herbs such as oregano, mint, basil, rosemary and more in cooking meat and fish, but also chilli pepper and garlic.

In high elevation localities, smoked meat and pickled preserves are common (in Njegusi) for example, animal organs are also used in dishes such as intestines and the head among other parts, which are considered a delicacy (Albania).

Meat and bread are very commonly found on a Balkan table, but this area is a warm welcome for the vegetarians as well. All this amount of food is perfectly accompanied with the best wines produced in cellars that runs mostly as familiar business that preserve and passes the tradition in different generation and also the other specialties of each country like raki or ouso.

Balkan has a solution for every taste, that's why it should be a choice !!!
